Items listed as "Certified" do not require a kosher symbol unless they are marked with a star (*)

Due to continual changes in the liquor industry, alcoholic beverages which are certified as kosher are preferable to those which are merely "Approved"

This list is updated regularly and should be considered accurate until December 31, 2021

cRc - Liquor List

American Whiskey

Products listed as Certified are preferable to those listed as Approved.

In general, American Whiskey does not require kosher certification. (See elsewhere for general recommendations for Bourbon and Rye.) Two exceptions are:

1 - Some have begun adding flavors and/or aging the liquor in wine casks. Such items would not be acceptable without certification, and consumers can determine if a given liquor has this issue by carefully reading the bottle's label.

2 - Some whiskey companies are owned by Jews who do not sell their chametz; those brands are not recommended and are listed below. See <http://bit.ly/AKOAlert> for details.

Nevertheless, due to potential kashrus considerations regarding flavorings and blending materials used in standard American and Blended Whiskey, it is preferable to only use products labeled as "Straight" whiskey. White Whiskey and Moonshine require certification.

Not Recommended unless purchased before Pesach 2018/5778

Beer

Products listed as Certified are preferable to those listed as Approved.

All standard unflavored beers with no additives are acceptable, even without Kosher certification; see exceptions below. This applies to both American and imported beers, light, dark and non-alcoholic beers. However, since some breweries produce non-kosher beer which can affect even unflavored beer produced on the same equipment, it is recommended to only consume unflavored beer from a non-certified brewery after verifying that they do not produce any non-kosher beer such as oyster, bacon, clam, and lobster. Exceptions include: Beers from home and pub breweries, beer from Israel, milk stouts (and other beers which contain lactose), and flavored beer, including those flavored with spices, botanicals, or fruits, require hashgachah.

Bourbon

Products listed as Certified are preferable to those listed as Approved.

In general, bourbon does not require kosher certification. Two exceptions are:

1 - Some have begun adding flavors and/or aging the liquor in wine casks. Such items would not be acceptable without certification, and consumers can determine if a given liquor has this issue by carefully reading the bottle's label.

2 - Some bourbon companies are owned by Jews who do not sell their chametz; those brands are not recommended and are listed below. See [\[here\]\[http://bit.ly/AKOAlert\]](http://bit.ly/AKOAlert) for details.

Canadian Whisky

Canadian Whisky often contains added wine. This wine, assumed to be non-kosher, creates considerable kashrus concerns. This applies even to products labeled as 100% Rye. Accordingly, Canadian Whisky is recommended only if it is known to only contain kosher ingredients or has reliable certification.

Gin

Products listed as Certified are preferable to those listed as Approved.

Standard gin is recommended without hashgacha (even when containing juniper berries and other botanicals) unless the label states that it is produced from grapes, wine, milk, lactose, or whey. Special attention should be paid to gin from France, New Zealand, and Australia. Flavored gin (e.g. Lemon-flavored gin) requires hashgacha. Sloe Gin is a liqueur and requires certification.

Irish Whiskey

Products listed as Certified are preferable to those listed as Approved.

Many Irish Whiskies are aged in casks that previously held sherry, sauterne, port or other wines. Others have special “finishes” or multiple “maturation” that include wine. All of these practices raise kashrus concerns.

The cRc policy is that Irish Whisky is permitted unless the label states that it is aged in a wine cask, has a special finish, or an extra maturation (as noted above). Consumers who wish to adopt this stance should read the label of each bottle before using it, and avoid wording such as double or triple finish, double or triple mated, dual casks or finish, European or French casks, Madeira finish, port, sauterne, or sherry. The cRc listings of recommended Irish Whiskies follows a stricter standard than the one listed above, and only includes Irish Whiskies that are certified and/or are known to not have any contact with wine or

Rye
Products listed as Certified are preferable to those listed as Approved.
In general, rye does not require kosher certification. Two exceptions are:
1 - Some have begun adding flavors and/or aging the liquor in wine casks. Such items would not be acceptable without certification, and consumers can determine if a given liquor has this issue by carefully reading the bottle's label.
2 - Some rye companies are owned by Jews who do not sell their chametz; those brands are not recommended and are listed below. See http://bit.ly/AKOAlert for details.
Nevertheless, due to potential kashrus considerations regarding flavorings and blending materials used in standard Rye Whiskey, it is preferable to only use products labeled as "Straight" Rye Whiskey.

Sake

Products listed as Certified are preferable to those listed as Approved.
 Unflavored sake is acceptable without hashgacha.
 Flavored sake (e.g., Coconut Sake) and sake which states on the label that it was aged in wine casks require hashgacha. Nevertheless, due to potential kashrus concerns, it is preferable to only consume premium sake labeled as Honjozo, Ginjo, or Daiginjo.

Scotch

Products listed as Certified are preferable to those listed as Approved.

Many Scotches are aged in casks that previously held sherry, sauterne, port or other wines. Others have special “finishes” or multiple “maturations” that include wine. All of these practices raise kashrus concerns. The cRc policy is that Scotch is permitted unless the label states that it is aged in a wine cask, has a special finish, or an extra maturation (as noted above). Consumers who wish to adopt this stance should read the label of each bottle before using it, and avoid wording such as double or triple finish, double or triple matured, dual casks or finish, European or French casks, Madeira finish, port, sauterne, or sherry. The cRc listings of recommended Scotches follows a stricter standard than the one listed above, and only includes Scotches that are certified and/or are known to not have any contact with wine or wine casks.
